BENEFITTING

MEDICAL EDUCATION

More than $3 mm

raised for medical education in North Texas
since the first tournament

Over 100 Years

experience teaching and training young physicians in North Texas

The 17th Annual Grand Rounds® Golf Tournament will bring together more than 200 golfers for tournament day golf with executives and physicians on the medical staff at Baylor Scott & White Health - North Texas.

Participants will enjoy a shotgun round of golf with VIP experiences, golfer giveaways and marketing opportunities for participating sponsors. One hundred percent of donations received through Grand Rounds directly impact the future of healthcare in our community.

PROGRAM.

The graduate medical education program at Baylor University Medical Center trains more than 260 residents and fellows in 40 specialties each year—ranging from internal medicine to vascular surgery to pathology. The Foundation has pledged more than $3.2 million to fund the program in FY19.

LOCAL IMPACT.

Following the completion of their training, 35 percent of our residents and fellows have joined our North Texas medical staff. An additional 15 percent have stayed in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, making a positive impact on the North Texas community.

COLLABORATION.

Baylor Dallas and the Texas A&M Health Science Center College of Medicine joined forces to address the state's healthcare workforce shortage by establishing a Clinical Training Program for 150 second-, third- and fourth-year medical students.

Medical education is a crucial part of the Baylor Scott & White Health mission. As the nation faces a looming shortage of physicians, Baylor Scott & White is working to ensure the continual health care of our community by educating and training the next generation of medical professionals. Philanthropic support of medical education initiatives helps stifle the rising cost of educating tomorrow's physicians.
